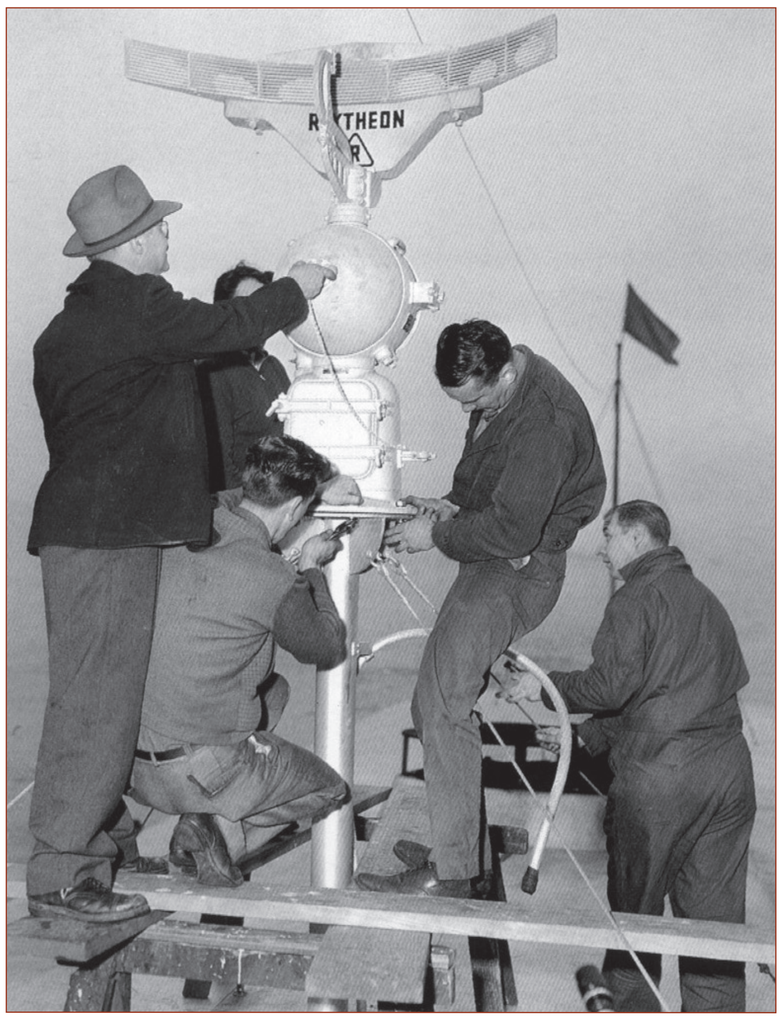
FCC License #001

1946 First non-military vessel to use radar navigation



Federal Communications Commission selects the Kalakala for her unparalleled track record of technological innovation — for example having the world's first fire supression system on board any vessel.