Community Public Arts Projects

In November 2017, City staff completed a booklet entitled 'Kirkland Neighborhood Greenways'. It is an art concept workbook designed for neighborhood use in developing art along Kirkland's network of neighborhood greenways. The workbook presents concepts to inspire community members to initiate greenway public arts projects in proximity to their neighborhoods. Art concepts in the workbook focus on wayfinding, neighborhood identity, and gathering.

Kirkland's Public Works Department is taking an active role in aiding community members with projects, neighborhood selection, and siting. The Kirkland Cultural Arts Commission will be supportive to neighborhoods involved in these projects on a volunteer basis.

"The Greenways are not only intended for movement from one place to another, but also for enjoying small moments along the way."

The goal of the Kirkland Neighborhood Greenways project is to promote togetherness through art in Kirkland, helping to connect not only neighborhoods, but more importantly the people of our community.
