

THE PROBLEM: Cochran Springs deposits more than 30 tons of sediment each year downstream of these culverts beneath Lake Washington Boulevard. That sediment chokes the culverts and the creek, sabotaging the creek's ability to convey large amounts of water and fishes' ability to swim upstream through the clogged culverts.