1. Project Overview

1.1 Project Goal

To assess and track residents' attitudes and opinions about quality of life in Kirkland, priorities for the future and satisfaction with City government and its services. Specifically, the survey covered the following topic areas:

- Residents' perceptions of Kirkland as a place to live, including the things they like most about the city and what concerns them, their satisfaction with the availability of good and services in the city, attitudes about personal safety, and neighborhood infrastructure.
- Overall job ratings of City government, and specific ratings on government priorities, managing public money, communication with residents, and overall service delivery.
- Ratings of the overall importance and assessment of the City's performance across 21 City services and functions.
- Questions about household emergency preparedness.

1.2 Methodology

- Telephone survey of 500 City of Kirkland residents randomly sampled from a list of registered voters and non-voters, including landline and cell phones.
- Overall margin of error of +/- 4.4 percentage points at the 95% confidence level.
- Interviewing took place between June 25th and July 2nd, 2020.

This survey is the eighth in a biennial series of citizen surveys commissioned by the City of Kirkland. This report includes results comparisons with previous surveys, including 2012, 2014, 2016 and 2018. Note: in previous years, the survey sample consisted of all registered voter households. The 2020 iteration includes registered voter and non-registered households.

Survey Year	Number of interviews (n)	Overall Margin of Error (MoE)
2020	500	±4.4 percentage points
2018	512	±4.3 percentage points
2016	502	±4.4 percentage points
2014	501	±4.4 percentage points
2012	500	±4.4 percentage points

2. Findings Summary

Kirkland as a Place to Live

Amid the broader challenges facing the community in 2020, a resounding majority of residents continue to rate Kirkland positively as a place to live.

- In equal measure, residents consider Kirkland an “excellent” (42%) or “very good” (43%) place to live.
- A negligible share of residents give the city a critical “only fair” (2%) or “poor” (2%) rating.
- These sentiments remain largely consistent with previous years.

Although the national issue landscape has shifted significantly, Kirkland residents continue to cite a broad mix of local, top-of-mind strengths and concerns for the community.

- When asked what they like best about living in Kirkland, prominent mentions include the city’s location and proximity to amenities, its quiet, small-town feel, community and neighborhoods, parks, waterfront, downtown, and more.
- Residents’ top-of-mind concerns also include a range of responses, including traffic, housing costs, development and growth, taxes, cost of living and affordability, police, crime, parking, and others. Coronavirus-related concerns were also raised but to a lesser degree.

Kirkland City Government

Kirkland City government continues to receive high marks for the job it does overall, delivering services efficiently, and for keeping residents informed. Residents are more critical of the job it does focusing on the priorities that matter most and managing the public's money but these ratings are either comparable with or higher than previous years.

- Overall, two-thirds of residents (69%) give the City a positive “Excellent” or “Very good” job rating, compared to one-fifth (22%) giving it a negative “Only fair” or “Poor” rating, with one-tenth (9%) unable to rate. The City’s overall job rating has remained consistent since 2012.
- The City’s job ratings for “Delivering Services efficiently” (70% positive / 17% negative) also remains steady with previous years.
- The job the City does “Keeping residents informed” (66% positive / 28% negative) and “Focusing on the priorities that matter most to residents” (49% positive / 32% negative) have seen more variance in recent years. After decreasing in 2018, both have rebounded in 2020.
- Ratings for “managing the public’s money” have been traditionally split (37% positive / 32% negative) but is unchanged from previous years.

City Services and Functions

In terms of perceived importance and performance, most City services and functions remain consistent with 2018, with a slightly lower emphasis on police services, traffic flow, and building, permitting, and inspection in 2020.

- A majority of services continue to perform at least comparably to their relative priority level.
- Fire and emergency medical services, recycling and garbage collection, and City parks are the top-rated functions, both in importance and performance.
- In 2020, police service ratings are lower, both in importance and performance, but those ratings remain relatively comparable.
- Affordable housing, traffic flow, City planning and growth, and services for people in need are the biggest underperforming items – where performance ratings are lowest compared to their relative importance. Despite this, each are performing slightly better compared to 2018.

Other Findings

Neighborhood safety ratings remain high, albeit with slight variation from previous years.

- Nine-in-ten residents (92%) say they feel safe walking alone in their neighborhood during the day, which is a slightly lower share than in previous years (98% in 2018).
- Nearly four-in-five (78%) feel safe walking alone at night, compared to one-in-five (19%) who feel unsafe. These sentiments are stronger than in previous years (70% safe / 30% unsafe in 2018).
- Compared to other demographic subgroups, women, 65+ residents, and renters feel the least safe while walking around at night. More than one-in-five (22%) feel at least “somewhat unsafe.”

Residents remain similarly satisfied with Kirkland’s availability of goods and services and infrastructure as in previous years.

3. Attitudes About Kirkland

3.1 Rating Kirkland as a Place to Live

Question(s) Analyzed

Q6. How would you rate Kirkland as a place to live? Would you say it is excellent, very good, satisfactory, only fair, or poor place to live?

Findings

- Over four-in-five residents rate Kirkland as an “excellent” (42%) or “very good” (43%) place to live. Very few give it an “only fair” or “poor” rating.
- This positive rating has remained stable since 2012.

Residents overwhelmingly find Kirkland a good place to live. Very few give it less than a satisfactory rating.

Ratings for Kirkland as a place to live have remained steady since 2012, albeit with minor fluctuations in positive intensity (“excellent”).

Among the categorized top-of-mind responses, location/proximity to amenities remains the top-cited positive aspect of life in Kirkland in 2020. About 1-in-10 responses include positives related to safety and quietness, small town/community feel, and the waterfront location.

3.3 Concerns About Kirkland

Question(s) Analyzed

Q8. When you think about the way things are going in Kirkland, what, if anything, concerns you? Anything else?

Findings

- Amid the pandemic, residents continue to mention traffic, housing, cost of living, taxes, and growth/development as top-of-mind concerns in Kirkland.

Don't know	3%	1%	2%	4%

Overall, there have been minimal shifts in Kirkland residents' top-of-mind concerns compared to 2018. Despite the impacts of COVID-19 on the lives of residents in 2020, the leading concerns include traffic, overdevelopment, and affordability-related issues.

4. Kirkland City Government

4.1 Kirkland Job Ratings

Question(s) Analyzed

Please tell me how you think Kirkland City government is doing in each of the following areas. Use a scale of excellent, good, only fair, or poor. If you aren't sure one way or the other, please just say so.

Q9. the job the City doing overall

Q10. the job the City is doing managing the public's money

Q11. the job the City does keeping citizens informed

Q12. the job the City does delivering services efficiently

Q13. the job the City does focusing on the priorities that matter most to residents

Findings

- The City's overall job rating remains high (69% positive), although with low intensity, either positively (14% "Excellent") or negatively (5% "Poor").
- The City also receives high marks for delivering services efficiently (70% positive) and keeping residents informed (66%).
- Half of residents (49%) give the City positive marks for focusing on priorities that matter most, compared to a third (32%) who rate the attribute as "Only fair" or "Poor."
- Ratings are lower for managing the public's money (37%), but around one-third of residents are unable to rate the City on these issues.
- Ratings for the overall job the City is doing, delivering services efficiently, and managing the public's money have been consistent over the past years. Ratings for keeping residents informed and focusing on the most important priorities have both bounced back from their low 2018 levels and increased even above 2016 levels.

Seven-in-ten (69%) residents give the City an "Excellent" (14%) or "Good" (55%) rating for the job it is doing overall. Although one-fifth (22%) give the City a lower job rating, the intensity of negative sentiment is low – very few (5%) rate it as "poor."

The City also gets very strong marks for delivering services efficiently. Seven-in-ten (70%) give the City a positive rating on this attribute, with negligible intensity on the negative side (4% "Poor").

Two-thirds of residents (66% "Excellent" or "Good") give the City a positive rating for the job it is doing keeping citizens informed. Just over a quarter of residents (28%) give the City a negative rating for this attribute but only a few (7%) say it is doing a "Poor" job.

Regarding the City’s performance on focusing on the priorities that matter most to residents, about one half (49% “Excellent” or “Good”) give the City a positive rating, while one third (32%) of residents rate the City as doing either an “Only fair” or “Poor” job. Around 1-in-5 residents (19%) cannot rate the City’s performance either positively or negatively.

There is greater uncertainty and unawareness surrounding the job the City is doing managing the public’s money, with around one-third of residents (31%) not being able to give the City any rating at all. The residents who have higher awareness are split over the City’s performance on this attribute, with over a third (37%) giving a positive rating while 32% gives a negative rating.

Kirkland government’s job ratings have either remained stable or recovered following ratings drops in 2018. Overall ratings, ratings for “delivering services efficiently” and “managing the public’s money” have remained virtually unchanged over the last few years. Ratings for “keeping residents informed” and “focusing on the priorities that matter most” have seen relatively more fluctuation in recent years and both have seen positive ratings spikes in 2020.

The City’s overall job rating is consistent across demographic subgroups, with similarly low intensity, either positively or negatively.

Pluralities of most subgroups give positive marks for how well the City is “focusing on the priorities that matter most to residents.” Satisfaction is significantly lower among people of color and higher among those with household incomes under $75K. Positive ratings are comparable between homeowners and renters, although homeowners are slightly more critical of this aspect of governance.

5. City Services and Functions

5.1 Importance

Question(s) Analyzed

Q14-34. I'm going to read you a list of services and functions provided by the city. For each one, please tell me how important that city function is to you and your household. Use a scale of 1 to 5, where 1 means that it is "not at all important" and 5 means it is "extremely important."

Findings

- 17 out of 21 services and functions are seen as at least moderately important ("4" or "5") by a majority of residents. Three-quarters or more consider Fire/EMS (88%), recycling and garbage collection (78%), city parks (77%), and emergency preparedness (75%) to be significant priorities (4 or 5 out of 5).
- There have been few shifts in residents' perceptions of importance since 2018, most notably for police services, which saw a 0.4 decrease in mean importance, and maintaining traffic flow (0.2 decrease).

Most city services and functions have seen minimal changes in importance ratings between 2018 and 2020. Exceptions include police services (4.43 in 2018 -> 4.02 in 2020), managing traffic flow (4.22 -> 3.98), and building, permitting and inspection (3.62 -> 3.40). City planning and response to growthⁱ and services for people in need saw slight increases in perceived importance, with a bump of more than 0.1 in mean importance.

5.2 Performance

Question(s) Analyzed

Q33-52. Using the same list, please tell me how well you think the city is doing in each area. Use an A through F grading scale where A means Excellent, B means Above Average, C is Average, D is Below Average, and F is Failing.

Findings

- Fire and EMS services (79% A or B), recycling (80%), and city parks (77%) remain the top-rated City services, although all three ratings somewhat declined since 2020. Police services performance rating saw the largest decline in mean performance.
- Affordable housing options for vulnerable residents and managing traffic flow are the lowest rated services.

Residents give majority positive grades (A or B) for most services except for affordable housing, managing traffic flow, city planning, building permitting, services for people in need, and support for an inclusive and welcoming community. A large portion of residents are unable to rate the City on a number of these low-performing items.

5.3 Importance vs. Performance – Gap Analysis

Findings

- The City’s performance ratings on most functions are comparable to or higher than their respective importance to residents.
- Of the City services tested, most are rated at least comparably to their relative performance, with the exception of affordable housing options (its performance mean was 75% of its importance mean), managing traffic flow (79%), city planning and response to growth (82%), and services for people in need (85%).
- Conversely, community events (117%), recreation programs and classes (115%), support for arts in the community (112%) and bike safety (107%) are the biggest overperformers, with performance ratings exceeding their respective levels of importance.
- Although residents do not prioritize affordable housing as highly as other services, it carries the largest gap between its importance and relative performance and is a key opportunity for improvement. Despite its decline in importance, City performance in managing traffic flow is still rated quite low and the item remains an underperformer.

5.4 Importance vs. Performance – Quadrant Analysis

Plotting the importance and performance on a quadrant chart allows items to be categorized the following ways:

- 1) Improvement Opportunities: High Importance, Low Performance (top-left quadrant)
Services falling into this category should be viewed as opportunities for improvement. These are the items that residents feel are very important but the City could be doing a better job delivering. Improving the services in this quadrant are likely to have the greatest impact on improving citizens' overall favorability of the City of the items tested.
- 2) Satisfactory Performance: Comparable Importance & Performance (bottom-left and top-right quadrants)
Services in these two quadrants may be rated differently by residents; but in both scenarios, City performance for these services matches the importance that the residents attribute to them. The items in the top-right quadrant have been identified as relatively strong drivers of satisfaction with City services.
- 3) Overperformance: Low Importance, High Performance (bottom-right quadrant) – This quadrant represents services that citizens think the City is doing very well with but are believed to be less important. While items in this quadrant can be considered successes with certain niche groups, for most citizens, they are not major drivers of overall satisfaction with the City.

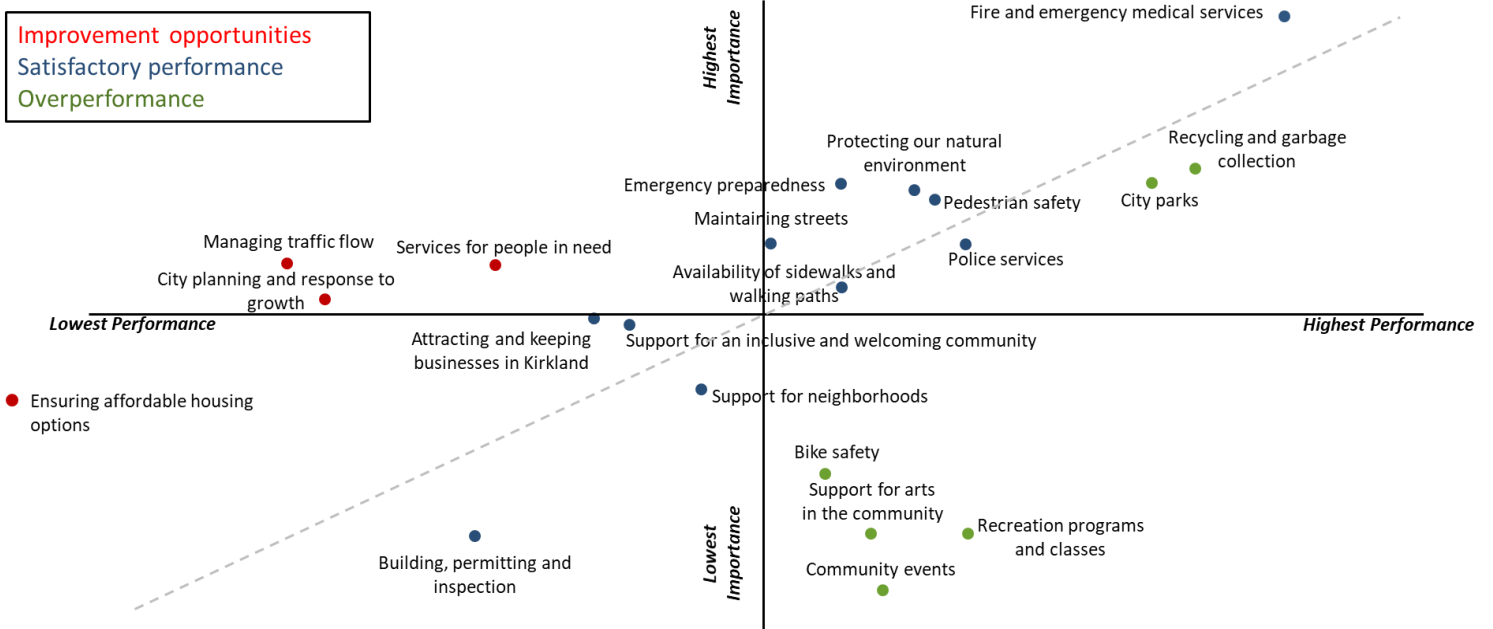

The diagonal line overlaying the chart represents where the ideal performance should be relative to the level of importance. Services falling on or near this line are performing optimally compared to how citizens value them. Items significantly left of the line may be potentially valuable improvement opportunities while items far right of the line may result in wasted resources if given too much focus.

Most services are performing near or above as expected relative to their priority levels. Fire and EMS is rated highest in both performance and importance. Police services ratings remain in the same quadrant as 2018 but are rated comparably lower in both importance and performance.

Managing traffic flow, services for people in need, and city planning/response to growth are all rated above average in importance and remain key improvement opportunities for the City. Affordable housing is rated slightly lower in importance but has the largest gap in performance relative to importance.

The improvement opportunity areas remained constant since last year. Managing traffic flow, with a significant decrease in importance, closed the importance/performance gap to an extent. The shift in importance/performance ratings for police services are also shown below, but because these dimensions have shifted comparably in tandem, it remains in the higher importance and higher performance quadrant.

6. Safety, Goods and Services, Infrastructure Ratings

6.1 Satisfaction with The Availability of Goods & Services

Question(s) Analyzed

Q56. Thinking about the types of stores, goods and services available in Kirkland, would you say that you are very satisfied, satisfied, dissatisfied, or very dissatisfied with the availability of goods and services in Kirkland?

Findings

- While a strong majority report being satisfied with the availability of stores, goods, and services in Kirkland, only 1-in-4 say they are very satisfied. 10% of residents say they are somewhat dissatisfied with the offering mix.

Although the sentiment towards Kirkland's availability of goods and services is overwhelmingly high, the intensity of this positive rating is low, both positively and negatively. Among residents who are dissatisfied (13%) with life intensity, only 3% report being "very dissatisfied."

After a ratings peak in 2018, satisfaction with the availability of goods and services in Kirkland is slightly lower in 2020 but remains slightly elevated compared to 2016 and earlier.

6.2 Neighborhood Safety

Question(s) Analyzed

- Q57. In general, how safe do you feel walking alone in your neighborhood during the day? Would you say very safe, safe, somewhat unsafe, or very unsafe?
- Q58. And how safe do you feel walking alone in your neighborhood after dark? Would you say very safe, safe, somewhat unsafe, or very unsafe?
- Q59. (If “very” or “unsafe”) Why do you feel unsafe?

Findings

- More than 9-in-10 residents feel safe walking alone in their neighborhood during the day, including 70% who say they feel “Very safe”
- Most residents also feel safe after dark, but only a third (33%) say they feel “very safe” and 1-in-5 feel at least “somewhat unsafe” after dark.
- Safety ratings are lower among women and 65 and older residents.
- After having remained largely consistent between 2012-2018, daytime safety rating slightly dropped and nighttime safety increased by 8 points in 2020.

Additionally, only 4% report feeling “very unsafe” when walking around their neighborhood at night.

About 9-in-10 residents across many major subgroups report feeling safe when walking alone in Kirkland during daytime.

Women, renters, and residents age 6 or older report feeling less safe walking around at night relative to other resident subgroups.

After remaining highly consistent between 2012 and 2018, residents’ average daytime safety rating has dropped slightly from previous years, while perceived safety after dark has improved in 2020.

Following up with the few dozen respondents who mentioned that they feel somewhat unsafe either during the day or night, “Crime” (29% mentioned) is the leading concern in 2020. There are fewer mentions of “strangers” and “lack of streetlights” compared to 2018.

6.3 Satisfaction with Neighborhood Infrastructure

Question(s) Analyzed

Q60. In general, how satisfied are you with your neighborhood’s infrastructure such as streets and sidewalks, and roadside landscaping? Are you very satisfied, somewhat satisfied, somewhat dissatisfied, or very dissatisfied?

Findings

- Satisfaction with neighborhood infrastructure is high, with 1-in-3 residents being very satisfied.
- There has been no significant change in infrastructure satisfaction since 2012.

82% residents report being satisfied with their neighborhood infrastructure, including streets, sidewalks, and roadside landscaping, including one-fourth (24%) who are “very” satisfied.

Satisfaction with neighborhood infrastructure has remained virtually unchanged since 2012.

7. Other Topics

7.1 Measures Taken to Prepare

Question(s) Analyzed

The following are things that some people have done to prepare their household for disasters or emergencies. Please tell me which of the following you have done at your home...

- Q61. Stored seven days of food and water for use in the event of an emergency?
- Q62. Put together a kit for the car, with things like food, flashlight, blankets, & tire chains?
- Q63. Established a plan to communicate with friends or relatives out of state?
- Q64. Put active, working smoke detectors in your home?

Findings

- 9-in-10 (92%) residents report having working smoke detectors and two-thirds (67%) have seven days stored food and water. About half report having a communications plan (53%) and a car emergency kit (52%).

The percentage of residents saying they have an active smoke alarm, after having stayed constant between 2012 and 2018, saw a decline in 2020. A two-thirds majority (67%) report having up to seven days of food and water for use in the event of an emergency, 5% up from 2018. The level of having a plan to communicate with friends or relatives out of state in case of emergency remained stable since last year. Over half (52%) of residents also report having a kit for the car with emergency supplies.

7.2 Information Level & Information Sources

Question(s) Analyzed

- Q65. In general, how well-informed would you say you are about Kirkland City government? Would you say you are well informed, somewhat informed, or not very informed?
- Q66. What is your primary source of information for finding out what is going on with Kirkland City government?

Findings

- Close to two-thirds of residents consider themselves at least “somewhat informed” about Kirkland City government. This level of self-reported awareness has been consistent since 2016.
- Residents report getting information about City government from a variety of sources, led by the City’s webpage (16%), the City’s newsletter (14%), and Kirkland Reporter (12%). The share of mentions for the City’s webpage and the Reporter have dropped since 2018.

Although two-thirds (65%) of residents consider themselves somewhat informed about Kirkland City government, there is little intensity behind this confidence. Only 15% of residents consider themselves “well informed” about Kirkland City Government. Residents’ information levels with City government have grown very gradually since 2012.

Online sources and the City television channel are increasing in primacy for information about Kirkland City government, while the reported reliance on Kirkland Reporter and the City Newsletter have fallen. With some increase in the use of City webpage as primary source of information on Kirkland City government since 2018 (12% -> 16%) and drop in City newsletter (19% -> 14%) and the Kirkland Reporter (19% -> 12%), City webpage became the most mentioned information source.
