Background Information

The City of Kirkland is located on the eastern shore of Lake Washington. It is a suburban city, surrounded by other suburban cities and pockets of unincorporated King County. The City is near several major transportation routes including Interstate 405, State Route 520, and Interstate 5. These routes connect the City economically and socially to the greater Seattle area.

At the time of incorporation in 1905, the City of Kirkland's population was approximately 530. The current estimated population is 96,920. Kirkland is the twelfth largest city in the State of Washington and the sixth largest in King County.

Since its incorporation, Kirkland has grown in geographic size to eighteen square miles - approximately twenty times its original size. This growth occurred primarily through the consolidation of the cities of Houghton and Kirkland in 1968, the annexations of Rose Hill and Juanita in 1988 and the annexation of North Juanita, Finn Hill, and Kingsgate areas in 2011.

Kirkland operates under a Council-Manager form of government. The City Council is the policy-making branch of Kirkland's government and consists of seven members elected at large to staggered, four-year terms. The Mayor is elected from within the Council. The City Council is supported by several advisory boards and commissions and the City Manager. The City Manager is appointed by the City Council and serves as the professional administrator of the organization, coordinating its day-to-day activities.

Purpose and Background

The Organics Management Law (Law) passed in 2022 requires the Department of Ecology to designate a Business Organics Management Area (BOMA) and sets requirements for businesses generating certain thresholds of organic material waste within those areas. All of Kirkland is in a BOMA. Starting January 1, 2024, businesses generating eight or more cubic yards of organic material waste per week must arrange for organic materials management for that waste which could be met by subscribing to organics collection service. As of January 1, 2025, the volume threshold will be reduced to four or more cubic yards of organic material waste, and on January 1, 2026, businesses producing four or more cubic yards of all solid wastes to include trash, recycling, and organics must comply by managing their organic material waste in several ways, including participating in compost collection service, donating edible food, and/or managing it onsite.

The City of Kirkland offers rate-subsidized food waste composting to qualified commercial properties at no additional cost. To ensure success, this program requires participants to meet certain qualification standards. Properties must be successful recyclers already by having an equal ratio of garbage to recycling capacity, a willingness to train staff, indicate a commitment to addressing contamination issues, and meet a minimum threshold of food scraps generated. Details about our program are available here: Food Scrap Collection Service for Businesses – City of Kirkland \(kirklandwa.gov\). Currently, over 100 properties participate in the program.

Through this work, the consultant will provide tailored technical assistance and education directly to businesses, focusing on identifying businesses currently in compliance with the Law or which business will need to comply in 2025 and 2026. The goals of this task are to evaluate our current commercial organics program, evaluate the financial viability and structure of the City's commercial organics program compliance with thresholds of the Law, conducting outreach with businesses to pursue best management options for organic waste, and reporting number of pounds of organic waste reduced and diverted from landfill.

Attachment B Scope of Work: Commercial Organics Program Evaluation and Outreach Contract

Background

The Organics Management Law (Law) passed in 2022 requires the Department of Ecology to designate a Business Organics Management Area (BOMA) and sets requirements for businesses generating certain thresholds of organic material waste within those areas. All of Kirkland is in a BOMA. Starting January 1, 2024, businesses generating eight or more cubic yards of organic material waste per week must arrange for organic materials management for that waste. As of January 1, 2025, the threshold changes to four or more cubic yards of organic material waste, and on January 1, 2026, the threshold changes to four or more cubic yards of any solid waste. Businesses may comply by managing their organic material waste in several ways, including participating in compost collection service, donating the edible food, and/or managing it onsite.

The City of Kirkland offers food waste composting to qualified commercial properties at no additional cost. To ensure success, this program does have requirements to participation. Properties must be successful recyclers already by having an equal ratio of garbage to recycling capacity, a willingness to train staff, commitment to addressing contamination issues, and meet a minimum threshold of food scraps generated. Details about our program are available here: Food Scrap Collection Service for Businesses – City of Kirkland \(kirklandwa.gov\). The City has had success in getting participation—we have over 100 participating properties.

Scope of Work

Through this work, the consultant will provide tailored technical assistance and education directly to businesses, focusing on identifying businesses in compliance with the Law or needing to comply. The consultant will work with the City to identify a list of businesses that need to comply with the law at each of the various stages and will assist in identifying future potential impacts of additional possible requirements. The consultant will add compost service and educate to increase usage of compost carts.

The goals of this task are to evaluate our current commercial organics program, address compliance with thresholds of the Law, and to conduct outreach with businesses to pursue best management options for organic waste.

The consultant shall develop and implement an outreach strategy including identifying commercial customers, developing marketing strategies and materials for compost diversion.

This work may include:

- Research and develop a list of businesses to target per the regulatory timeline outlined above, including identification of the businesses currently complying with regulation and number of businesses required to comply by January 1, 2026
- Evaluation of the City of Kirkland's current commercial composting program, including improvement opportunities and suggestions for future changes, with awareness of future subsidization cost impacts.
- Identify and collect data on businesses currently composting on their own or through a separate hauler contract

- Conduct outreach to businesses, including but not limited to in-person meetings, emails, and phone calls
- Track and report on the success of the outreach efforts and the businesses' progress towards implementing an organics management plan
- Set up commercial compost service for new businesses
- Measure outcomes and conduct visual audits of containers pre and post outreach with eye on container volume, frequency of service, and contamination. These audits will inform calculations of waste diverted.
- Report number of pounds of organic waste reduced (includes edible food waste prevention activities) and diverted from landfill

Outcomes

The consultant will be expected to report out on outcomes, in compliance with LSWFA grant guidelines. We anticipate an increase of 72,000 pounds of organics diverted. These numbers are based on setting up 20 new 64-gallon carts serviced once per week for commercial composting service by December, 2024. We anticipate 15 to 20 commercial properties will begin composting through this work.

The City requests a report at the end of the project summarizing work completed, organics pounds increased, number of new composting businesses, number of businesses assisted, number of businesses required to comply with the Law by January 1, 2026, evaluation of the City's current commercial organics program, and recommendations for next steps. The contractor will also provide a spreadsheet of businesses worked with and relevant details.

Budget

The total budget for this project is $66,508.00. This includes any supplies, printing, mileage, and all consultant time. The City of Kirkland may provide materials such as compost collection bins, solid waste signage, food scrap brochures, and other marketing materials.

The Consultant will submit invoices broken down by project staff, hours per staff, hourly billable rate, and overall cost. The Consultant will meet regularly and as needed throughout the project with the City's Solid Waste team to discuss progress to date, needed course corrections, and plans for upcoming work.
